We Salute

CLARENCE BAKER

This year's Festival is dedicated to Clarence Baker who operated Baker's Keyboard Lounge on Livernois at Eight Mile Road in Detroit for sixty years.

Since 1934, Baker's Keyboard Lounge has been the host to almost every jazz musician of national importance, as well as other artists. Clarence took over the management of the lounge in 1935 after the death of his father, Chris. He brought the finest musicians to Detroit, very often backing them with local musicians, affording them the opportunity to perform with famous names.

The roster of jazz stars who have played Baker's reads like a jazz history book. It was Art Tatum who picked out the seven-foot Steinway that Clarence had tuned weekly and kept it at the proper temperature with a humidifier or dehumidifier, depending on the weather.

Seeking the best possible venue to present these artists, Clarence imported ceiling tiles from Italy and lined the walls with flannel to enhance the acoustical excellence of the intimate ninety-nine-seat room.

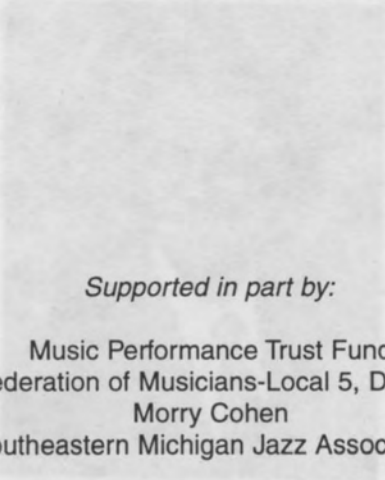

Clarence has "sold" the club a few times, but no one could be successful because it lacked the personal touch and knowledge that Clarence gained over the years.

In May of this year, Baker's was sold again and Clarence, who turned eighty-six on February 22, has retired from bringing the sounds of jazz to Detroit.

We salute you, Clarence, for your years of dedication to the music we love.

About the Producers

Band leaders Emil Moro, Tom Saunders and Johnny Trudell are the producers of the Festival. It began last year at Freedom Hill. They decided to try a more central location to provide more stages both indoor and outdoor.

Because Botsford Inn had the physical needs and because Innkeeper Creon Smith has supported jazz at the Inn, the producers decided to put the Festival here. Midge Ellis and Eileene Standley were added to help organize and publicize the event.

We hope you enjoy the music, the food, that you'll meet new friends and that you'll continue to support live jazz music.

Thanks for coming.

About the Sponsors

Today's Festival is made possible by the American Federation of Musicians Music Performance Trust Fund, Local 5, Detroit, Michigan. The fund provides the money to pay the musicians and the producers must match the amount.

Morry Cohen, builder extraordinaire, is best known for Somerset Collection and Somerset-North (grand opening in August), but to jazz musicians and fans he is an "angel" who provides funds for presentation, recording and promotion. Morry's generous contribution allowed this Festival to happen. His contributions to music and the arts is legendary.

Southeastern Michigan Jazz Association (SEMJA), produces a monthly SEMJA Update, profiling jazz events and musicians and a very thorough calendar of both on-going and special events. The membership of about 300 is rapidly growing and is dedicated to the education, performance and furtherance of jazz. Besides contributing to the Festival, they are here, acting as monitors and guides, helping to keep the program on schedule.

A table in the lobby of the Coach House is set up to provide more information on SEMJA and applications for membership. Festival T-shirts, polo shirts, laser-engraved mugs and pins are for sale.

Special Thanks

City of Farmington Hills for the use of the tent covering the patio stage.

Clarenceville Public Schools for the use of tables and chairs.

Mark Berger for designing and typesetting the program.

The Inmart Group, Ltd., for funding the printing of the program.

WEMU for spot announcements.
